COMMITTEE WANTS TO KNOW

The banking committee of parliament has at last and at least done something about debts. It has admitted, reluctantly, that they should be reduced.

The committee has asked the deputy minister of justice to find out whether parliament has power to reduce debts and debt principal. This is the rates and principal of public debts only, but of private debts as well.

It is to be supposed the committee submitted its list of questions with serious intent, and not merely to provide a talking official with a new variety of legal jigsaw puzzle to solve.

Whatever the answer may be, and whatever may be done in consequence, the point is that it is recognized that debts contracted in other times are out of date and do not deserve to be carried over to the day of reckoning.

In short, that some way or other there will have to come about a scaling down of interest rates or principal, or both, if the mountain of "freeze" debt is to be liquidated.

That is the question that the committee which parliament will have to deal during the present session. It should not protract until something is done about it.

A CAPITAL LEVY?

More wild bohemianism. At Washington a senatorial committee has proposed an amendment to the constitution that would authorize Congress to levy a direct tax on capital in order to "decrease wealth."

The resolution is not likely to get far. But it will give Senator Long a good day's work.

Rev. G. W. Dean of Calgary will lecture in the Methodist church this evening.

W. R. Mathers returned from Calgary on Thursday.

Upon their residents. Those who seek the milder air of the warm belt run the risk of malaria, swampy, poisonous insects and reptiles, fierce animals, tornadoes, volcanic eruptions and earthquakes.

Every continent, every country, and every community in this continent has seen some immigrants to move. California's pioneer parents who had to move there to live, or fortunate ones who even in these times have found it possible to go there to escape the rigors of winter in colder zones. Climate plus opportunity, plus the desire to better one's condition in search of health, or opportunities in search of pleasure, and of other multitudes in search of money to be gleamed from the spending of the holiday-makers.

Following an earthquake in California—and they happen there periodically—drives world-wide into that region that is everywhere tinged with keen personal concern. Readers wherever newspapers are published scan the column to see if the name of an acquaintance, a friend or a relative is in the list of the dead or missing.

Edmonton has contributed heavily to the population of the area by the latest disturbance. The shock that came to Edmonton people came with the same sense of dread to people in every part of the world. The same sense of fear that comes to the Atlantic and beyond the Pacific. To them as to us, the California disaster seems like a happening that imperilled the lives of people living in the other end of town.

WHAT WE CALL MONEY

The currency committee of the Bank of Canada has decided to name the new money it is to issue after the famous banks.

It is to be a standing complaint of us, and has been for a couple of years, that money would not stay in circulation. It gravitated to the banks as water runs to a sink hole. Once it went into the banks there was no getting it out again and into circulation, so the banks drew it out of everybody borrowed it.

As nobody was owing, or could borrow it, he wanted to, and as those lucky enough to be depositors seemed to want to stay in that class, the banks were compelled to keep the money in hand in the course of trade has steadily diminished.

The banks have the bulk of the money and don't want it. The public want it and can't get it now.

But look what money has done in the United States in the last fortnight. It poured out of the banks faster than it had been pouring into them, there or here. The depositors ceased to be depositors. They were cashed out.

The people resorted to bank runs and the banks pocketed literally train loads of bills and coins.

But that did start business on the up grade and make everybody happy! Obviously not. It closed the banks but it did not stop the banks from opening again. That money was out of the banks, but it was not circulating. It lay idle in pockets as it was smuggled across the border and deposited in Canada. It is to be expected that the Canadian banks will stop a wholesale exodus.

During the last couple of years we have had the flight from the German mark and the flight from the British pound. But nothing stronger or more unexpected than that has happened to the United States dollar from the banks and the country.

Poems That Live

INSPIRATION

I never dream of Alpine meadows,

Nor ever did I dream of Temple sit,

And Muess scores with vulgar brains to dull;

Poor layman I, for sacred rites unfit.

So do I hear of poet's fury tell,

But, God, not we, who were meant by it;

And I am told by bluestockings that we are

No pick-a-purse of another's wits.

How falls it then, that with so smooth an ease

My thoughts I speak and what I speak doth flow

In verse, as though by magic pen I had a pleat,

Give me the census. What is that? Fix it,

Or so? Much less? How then? Sure that it is,

My lips are sweet, inspired with Stet's kiss,

—Sir Philip Sidney.

THE REAL PROBLEM

The panic will pass. People will realize the banks are reasonably secure places in which to keep their funds, and the banks will respect the doors. But they will not respect the windows.

They will not respect the glass. Friends, it will be a world that must recognize that, if it is to live, it must trade moving, and this is the essential problem which faces the nation.

We the shareholders of the gold standard, to order to place American goods on a parity with those of other nations in export markets. But this, in itself, is no cure.

The problem cuts deeper. Restraint upon the production of raw materials everywhere is the only answer to the present situation.—Winnipeg Free Press

The Passing Show

By J. S. Couper.

Yesterday I heard a true story about a B.C. logger who developed stomach trouble. In the camp men eat well and hearty. With the camp closed down this chap has been maintaining his eating habits.

Two weeks ago he went to see a doctor; he was feeling very uncomfortable.

"You've got an ulcerated stomach. I'll put you on a milk diet for a while. Take three glasses of milk a day, a sandwich and a piece of bread each time you're getting on," said the doctor.

At the end of the week the logger came back. He was feeling worse than ever.

"You didn't take the milk diet as I told you," said the doctor.

"Yes, I did. Three quarts a day, just as you said."

"And how did you take them?"

"I took one quart after breakfast, the second quart after dinner and the third quart after supper."

Loggers are not the only people in B.C. who don't know when they've had enough.

On the front page, column one of a Vancouver paper, I read the following from the paper's legislative correspondent. In part it refers to the United States banking debacle as follows:

"Recent developments in the United States... are giving rise to the wildest sorts of rumors here (Vancouver).

There is talk of inflation of the American dollar to the extent of one-third, and Mr. Jones (Minister of Finance) is beginning to rub his hands in anticipation of making instead of losing what he calls the largest sum of money in American funds fall due in New York.

If Mr. Roosevelt inflates the gold dollar, who knows but that we may be all wealthy again with the Canadian dollar? And the United States is begging for business.

If the American dollar is inflated by one third and ours by one-quarter, we shall certainly not be wealthy again, nor will we see anyone begging for our business. Here we suffered enough already without taking the place on the cross now occupied by United States.

It is in the type of circrosis of the liver that circulation is interfered with through the liver, but cirrhosis may result from any condition which obstructs the flow of blood or bile from the liver; also from any long-continued toxic irritation. Since the liver receives 75% of the blood from the intestines, it is satisfied that the greatest majority of liver disorders, including cirrhosis, are brought on by toxins or poisons carried through the portal vein from the intestines to the liver. Some do not speak of the operation of an overconcentration of alcohol as the principal cause. If this is the case, we may expect an increase in cirrhosis of the liver in the United States in ten or twenty years when the damaging effects of alcohol on the liver become apparent.

In 1929 the Canadian dollar is at a premium over the British pound that British Columbia cannot sell lumber to Britain against the competition of the Scandinavian countries whose currencies have been lowered in value. It is inflated to synchronize with the pound sterling.

Indeed, it is optimist who suggests that "we may be all wealthy again with the Canadian dollar" at a premium over the world's wealth as stated by the rest of the world.

Money-lenders and coupon-clippers are the only classes who benefit under deflation. It is a novel idea that Canada may become prosperous by making the pawpaw richer.

Some novelist of the future, when the world has attained sanity under some better form of government, will be able to intrigue his readers by borrowing into the Canadian story.

It is to be hoped readers will be interested when the President of the wealthiest nation of the world was inaugurated in the wealthiest nation of the world, his country had half the world's gold in its vaults (then the standard of exchange that preceded had forced the colonies to pay for nickels and dimes, because the real banks wouldn't accept them), the city of Chicago, the Bank of the Street can change for any token of wealth larger than a fifty-cent piece (the equivalent of one hour's work for a laborer in that day); that a Frenchman named Chevalier Impérial, a member of the Canadian delegation to the Paris Exposition, paid millions to the President to make people laugh, had to borrow two dollars (about what he earned in a few seconds for showing his teeth or twisting his face into a smile) to buy a coat.

The will pass with laughter of the University of Wisconsin that had a lecture fast given by Prof. Auguste Plessard (the first man to venture into the stratosphere) because the misuse of language that followed.

Editor Bulletin: The technocrats have shown to the satisfaction of thinking people that the misuse of the machine has been largely responsible for disorganizing our social structure. Not being able to refute the evidence, some people tried to get away from the matter out of the public eye.

The machine is neither dumb nor uninteresting. It can think for itself to anyone who knows the language of machines. Well informed people can tell their secrets to people who can interpret the language of rocks. Skilled and educated people can do the same to the machine.

It would appear that a very large number of human beings are not fit to live in this world.

But you have neither the talent nor the desire to live in this world.

Billions of people have been born into this world.

It is to be hoped that the world will be better off when the world is smaller.

Health and Diet Advice

By Dr. Frank McCay

CIRRHOSIS OF THE LIVER CAUSED BY INTESTINAL TOXINS

Everyone has heard of cirrhosis of the liver, but few people understand just what it means; even doctors are in somewhat of a disagreement among themselves as to its cause, the general belief being that the use of excessive amounts of alcoholic beverages leads to these pathologic changes in the liver.

The name cirrhosis is derived from Greek word metathesis, orange-yellow. When used in connection with the liver, it means that the liver has turned to an orange-yellow instead of the normal color which is the one you see when you look at calves liver in the butcher shop.

Cirrhosis of the liver occurs in many forms. The most important point about it is that it is a marked grave disease.

This is exactly what happens in the working tissues of the body. It is a kind of tissue that binds the liver together, serving as a framework. A certain amount of connective tissue is necessary, but if the amount increases too much it interferes with the working tissues of the body.

This is the talk of inflation of the American dollar to the extent of one-third, and Mr. Jones (Minister of Finance) is beginning to rub his hands in anticipation of making instead of losing what he calls the largest sum of money in American funds fall due in New York.

Here's Rule To Sure Remember

A bride asks me: "What is the one quality above all others that a wife should have in order to hold her husband and keep him in love with her?" I answer: "A wife should be pleasant to live with." Being pleasant to live with is a wife's best bet. One that can play all the way across the board and be certain to win out.

"Of course, every man would like to have a wife who is kind to his eyes and a good companion and a good cook and manager, but these charms and graces are but the means to an end. The most important thing that has the real nourishment in it is the rich, rich sweetness of amiability on which the soul and grace rest. That is truly the food of love."

"For a man soon comes to see beauty in the fairest face if he finds that it is only a mask that covers a mean and selfish soul. The most stupid though is the man who has a good healthy complexion, violet eyes and Cupid's bow, but no admiration in his breast if their expression is peevish and fretful and irritable."

"Now, let us take the conversation and society of a wife, no matter how attractive she is, if her wits are mostly directed at him and if she sees her keenness of mind in searching out his every fault and foible and turning the spotlight of her wit upon them."

"Just the wife who is good-natured and easy-going, who takes her husband as it is and likes it, the woman who fills herself as perfectly as she can with the old man's ways or his old shoes or his old pipe, who has a charm to conjure with that never fails, who is always smiling and never loses its potency. And this is the power and its virtue increase every day, until she becomes a woman so irresistible in the end. You hear often of men divorcing wives who are good mothers, good housewives, but a man divorcing a wife who was pleasant to live with."

"The obsessing fear that haunts the days and nights of virtually every man is the fear of losing his wife, of losing her husband's affection and having his philtre after some time. This is the fear that strikes at her heart, because she loves him and life will be complete when she has him. At her pocketbook, because when she loses him she loses her job and her money, her home, her port and is thrown out on the world to earn her own living or exist on gratifying old alimony."

The American Pinckneys were early settlers in South Carolina and were descendants of Sir Roger Pinckney, fourth generation in descent from William Pinckney, of Pinckney, S.C.

The coat of arms here illustrated is blazoned "Or five lozenges in chevron, each charged with a coronet, or, a griffin's head proper. These arms were arms hereditary by the house of Pinckney."

MAKING HEALTH INTERESTING TO CHILDREN

It is often very difficult to make children eat foods that are absolutely good for them. Every child, for instance, should drink a quart of milk a day. Because good dependable milk such as E.C.D. milk is one of the most wonderful foods for children.

Many housewives have found that Kellogg's ready-to-eat cereals are the easiest as well as the most healthful way of encouraging a child to take plenty of milk. The number of combinations of Kellogg's Cereals with other foods is brand-new dish. Serving cereals to almost endless and, even over a long period of time, they can be made different and thus tempting to the child's taste.

And then there are so many Kellogg's cereals, too, that there is something to appeal to a preferred diet for every individual. Some like Corn Flakes. Most kiddies are crazy about PEP Bran Flakes. Rice Krispies with their "snap, crackle, pop" never fail to delight a child. And here or there makes a combinations is a new taste delight.

In order to help you with the problem of encouraging your child to eat foods that are really good for him, Kellogg has prepared a series of booklets especially for parents. Here, for example, they learn that hot, heavy foods are not so good for children. Here, too, they learn to eat easily digested cereals—and many other facts that will simplify your feeding.

The King Edward Cafe is featuring Kellogg's "Pep" in this week's menu.

Kellogg's Plant at London, Ont., Where Only Canadians Are Employed to such a vast extent that in addition to the "Million-Capacity-A-Day" plant at Battle Creek, Michigan, he now has 10 more plants in Canada. All employees of the Kellogg plant are uniformed in white. Free laundry service, shower baths and rest rooms are provided to the workers. Street clothes are not permitted in the plant. The last word in mechanical science handles these foods with almost human adroitness. Only the finest selected

Date For Placing Unemployed on Farm Extended

Single Men's Plan For Work On Land To End April 15

About 1,200 Have Taken Advantage of Joint Scheme

Extension until April 15 of the arrangements for placing of single men on farms has been agreed upon between A. M. McKenzie, chairman of the Alberta Relief Commission.

Should the spring prove late, a further extension may be granted, provided the government does not give signs of interfering with the normal absorption of labor for agriculture.

Farmers' reports received the scheme has been working out uniformly.

Farmers, who would not have been able to hire help at regular rates, have been able to hire help to obtain help during this scheme, while on the other hand, men who could not find work have given themselves to as great an extent as possible, have been placed in positions.

The scheme, which gives a small allowance to both farmer and hired man, Already nearly 1,200 single unemployed men have been placed on farms throughout the province, according to Mr. A. M. McKenzie, chairman of the Alberta Relief Commission.

Crowds of 300,000 Pack Aintree Course for Grand National, World's Most Uncertain and Dangerous Horse Race

KING SENDS U.S.
HIS SYMPATHY

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of three articles graphically describing the Grand National Steeplechase, one of the greatest sporting events in the world.

By BILL BRACHER
(NEA Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, March 13.—The most uncertain jump race in the world is the Grand National Steeplechase, in demands upon men for courage, skill, and daring for stadium and grandstand, and the race is unique.

Horses have been known to come a cropper at Beeches Brook and other hazards, but the 20 redges, water holes and other dangerous hazards they are exposed to in the race, and the pedigree have won it; some of them taken from between the shoulders, others from the neck, others beaten by the hind hoofs, and bloodied animals lie in the world over the 18 miles of trying terrain.

It combines the road-rambling of horse racing, making impossible leaps from board to board, footings with the inspiring spectacle of bounding jumps, can and clear. Puddles of mud, water holes and other dangerous hazards they are exposed to in the race, and the pedigree have won it; some of them taken from between the shoulders, others from the neck, others beaten by the hind hoofs, and bloodied animals lie in the world over the 18 miles of trying terrain.

The Prince of Wales is there. So are all the country folks from miles around. London society is there, too. And the great racing society to be noticed. It is a day for horses. Throngs of Irish, with chasers the finest in the world, chases the finest in the world, the air with their rhythmic beats. They sing, and drive bargains with the rich because it is impossible for one to see more than two or three of the

is much crowding and swerving as jumps taken by the horses in their 10 minutes of tremendous trying.

Thousands jam themselves at various points near the more difficult of the obstacles. They move one another along on the railings, run across narrow centres from one to another, sometimes franticly trying to get away from the other horses flush out of the fog, soar or stumble, and fade into the shadows.

The Canal Turn consists of a marsh fence 5 feet high and 3 feet wide, which flows across one end of the triangular course. It is a thorn fence, 2 inches high, 2 inches thick, with a natural brook on the far side that is 5 feet 6 inches wide.

At Beecher's Brook, the sixth hazard, the fence is 6 feet high, 2 inches wide, 3 feet 2 inches high, 3 feet 6 inches wide.

On the fair side there is a natural rise, 6 feet wide, 2 feet and 6 inches deep.

The Water Jump is a 15-foot oval bend in the river, 6 feet 6 inches wide, 2 feet 6 inches deep.

The five hazards above are usually the ones where they take those pictures showing horses doing somersaults, with jockeys sprawling in the air, and the horse's head is about to roll on them. Miraculously, however, the horses always seem to rules those fallen riders.

Considering the number of entries, it would be reasonable to assume that half of the horses and jockeys would be killed. This impresses few.

The long story of the Grand National dates back to 1890 years, is sprinkled with romance, drama, humor and the unexpected. The most remarkable entry is the American-bred horse triumphed — a cart horse named Rubio, of unbroken stock, which American owners have scored victories. This year the finest rider in America, the Englishman, Captain R. H. Darragh, will ride him. He will risk his neck for the difficult prize. His story will come later.

NEXT: Looking back on the Grand National.

Quebec Granites
Blank La Tuque

LA TUQUE, Que., March 12.— Quebec Granites yesterday halted the Allan Cup separation of La Tuque. The visitors carried a 165 to 140 victory over the home team with all the speed of lightning.

It was the fifth match in the parrot idol due to his style of play, which is a duplicate of Montréal's. He's won the division from start to finish, and has won the Allan Cup twice, once by game, twice by goal差.

Ed. Donald, play-making center and a great stickhandler is another.

Donald Somers, left wing, has although he is not a soaring ace, his feet are as fast as any, and his stickhandling creates plenty of action for a near crowd.

Alec MacQuarrie, who patrolled the right boards is one of the fastest players in the league and a leading sniper.

He is the best stickhandler in the juvenile league and has a reputation for his speed through with the winning marker.

HUDDLE FRED

FRED SOMERS, another big lad who romps the left boards, big and power and back character as is himself, is one of the most dangerous around the goal mouth.

Should make Calgary take notice of the younger member of the squad.

Leo Lemire, although the smallest player in the league, is a real power and back character as is himself.

Danny MacLeod, east right wing, is one of the leading skaters on the team, a great backhander and a fast skater.

Joe Lachance, although, passes plenty of speed and is a good backhander, but is not as fast as the rest.

Louis Lavioie, trainer, of Olympic fame, is a great backhander.

Condition with workouts and practice three times a week is largely responsible for their success.
